

Rosh Hashanah Scribble Story

Following this page is a sample Rosh Hashanah Scribble Story, a story about Rosh Hashanah with some of the words blacked out. The students must try to read the story aloud, filling in the missing words.

- ♦ Ask students to try reading the sample story to themselves in their heads.
- ♦ Challenge the students to create their own scribble stories about Rosh Hashanah. Students should trade with a classmate and see if they can read each other's stories. You can use this activity as an informal assessment to discern the students' knowledge about the holiday.

Can you read it, filling in the missing words?

This year, Rosh Hashanah begins on the evening of September 24 and ends on the  of September 26.

During the holiday we will hear the blast of the  as we greet the new  with prayer. On  Hashanah

we eat a special round  to remind us of the cycle of the year. We dip apples into  to wish each other a sweet new year. Some people  a pomegranate which reminds us of the  commandments. We wish each other a  tovah u'metukah—a good and sweet year!
